FIFTH STREET PUPILS PRESENT FINE PROGRAM

Second School Entertainment Given Thursday Evening

NEARLY 1,000 ATTEND

High School Auditorium is Packed for Event--Next Performance March 27

With an attendance bordering on the thousand mark the second entertainment of a series was presented by the pupils of the Fifth street building at the high school auditorium Thursday evening. The children were well trained and the parts exceptionally well interpreted. The first number was a song "If We Were You and You Were Us," rendered by a chorus of boys and irls. A "Rose Drill" by 32 girls, dressed to appear as large pink roses was impressive in its beauty. "I've Got the Mumps," a chorus by pupils of the first, second and third grades added much to the program. One of the most enjoyed parts of the program was an operetta "The Land of Dolls.' The manner in which the parts were interpreted by the tiny tots carried the spectator to the land of dolls. A playlet "Uncle Sam's Brigade," which was presented by 25 boys, portrayed scenes of camp life in the army.

In the operetta, "The Land of the Dolls,Bessie and Minnie,parts capably taken by Mildred Wilkes and Evelyn Warrensford, two disobedient girls are punished by being locked in a dark room. The girls wish they were dolls so that they would not have to obey their mother. Leah Patterson then appeared as the Fairy Queen, attended by 12 fairies and grants their wish provided they abide by whatever might happen.

The second scene is laid in doll land. The dolls try in vain to satisfy the selfish girls but their hospitality is not appreciated. King Limpy, impersonated by Aubrey Daniel is seriously injured, and Margaret Cook as Fifine, the queen is the object of much scorn on the part of the girls. They say unkind things of Tellella, who is really Mary Violet Daly in the role of a beautiful Paris doll. Then they are conducted to Judge Scarem by 16 tin soldiers but are saved from punishment by the Fairy Queen. Harry Clark as the fun doll, Hoop La, was full of life and mischief and Eva Tutar as Babette, the maid of the doll queen waited patiently upon Her Majesty. The part of a Chinaman, Fat Sing, was well impersonated by Russel Stahlman.

"Uncle Sam's Brigade" was the story of four boys who became tired of loafing around camp. They decide to join the navy but after reading letters from friends they think it would not be so much fun. Skidoo, a negro boy, impersonated by Jack Clark, becomes sick but feels better after singing, "Dixie" as it is only homesickness. The part of Uncle Sam was taken by Albert Barthalot; Drummer Boy by Raymond Charles; Bugler by Ernest Behrendt; Billy by Lester Haney; Charley by Laverne Kimmins; Tom by Charles McClurg and Teddy by George Nandor. Some very impressive tabelaux were presented in connection with the playlet.

The accompanist for the program was Miss Ethel Hawthorne. She also rendered, "The Star Spangled Banner" as a vocal solo, playing her own accompaniment. Several pieces were rendered by the high school orchestra. Prof. I. T. Daniel, supervisor of music in the schools aided by the teachers of the fifth street building and Prof. Pollock, directed the entertainment. The third entertainment by the school children will be given Friday evening March 27, this to be the night for the Second street school program.

TO BUILD NEW ROAD

Such is Contract Unloaded on Pennsylvania R. R. by Court

CASE IS FROM ELCO

The borough of Elco is considerably stirred up over the action of the county court in ordering the Pennsylvania Railroad company to replace the road from Woods Run to Stony Hollow, which the company appropriated years ago when the railroad was built. This means that all the houses between Woods Run and the Eclipse tipple will have to be vacated at once. The result is that 37 families have gone house hunting. The real estate agents of Roscoe are besieged for dwellings. One has stated that he could rent 50, if he only had them. As soon as the road is replaced from Woods Run to the Eclipse tipple the Pittsburg Railways company will be in position to go ahead and grade for their extension to California.

INJUNCTION CASE NOW BEING HEARD

Mass of Evidence Being Prsented in West Virginia by James Oates, of Charleroi and His Opponents in Labor Contest

Intelligence from Philippi, West Virginia, where the hearing of testimony in the trial of James Oates of Charleroi for alleged contempt of court in violation of the injunction of Judge Dayton, issued last fall in connection with Wellsburg strike continued through Thursday's session of Federal court, but nothing of particular importance has developed in the trial so far, and the outcome of the case is much in doubt.

A great mass of evidence has been introduced, and it is evident that if the remaining cases are to be tried separately it will be impossible to complete work at this term, as Judge Dayton must leave Sunday to open court at Martinsburg. A special effort is being made to rush the case through, a night session being held.

In view of Judge Dayton's action in issuing the injunctions in the strike troubles petitions signed by miners and others were sent to congress, asking that the official conduct of the judge be investigated. This was referred to the house judiciary committee, but that body decided Thursday night that it had no power to investigate. The only remedy, the committee said, in proceeding against a judge for misconduct is by regular impeachment proceedings.

NORMAL ALUMNI IN FAYETTE TO HOLD BANQUET

Prominent men in the educational and business affairs of Pennsylvania and West Virginia are to be the speakers at the first annual banquet to be given by the Fayette County Alumni Assoication of the California State Normal school to be held in the Hotel Titlow in Uniontown on Friday evening, April 24. Extensive preparations are being made by the committee in charge of the affair, which promises to be the largest gathering of alumni of any institution that ever met in Fayette county.

Prof. Raymond C. McClain, of the Point Marion schools, who is chairman of the committee on speakers, has secured a notable array of talent for the banquet. State Senator William E. Crow, of Uniontown, is to be the toastmaster. Among the other speakers are: Dr. C. H. Garwood, superintendent of the public schools of Pittsburg; Dr. H. B. Davis, superintendent of the Teachers Training school of Pittsburg; Dr. Walter S. Hertzog, principal of the California State Normal school; F. B. Lewellen, of the West Virginia University, of Morgantown, W. Va.; George B. Jeffries and B. F. Sterling, members of the Fayette county bar.

Sylvia E. Cowell is president of the Fayette County Alumni Asociation and is working with the various committees for the success of the banquet.

MINE INSPECTOR IS REVERSED BY COMMISSION

John Mahoney, Frank Dunbar, George S. Baton, George E. Gay and Walter R. Calvery, appointed commissioners to forthwith examine the Hazel mine of the Pittsburg-Buffalo company at Canonsburg, relative to the need for the use of permissible explosives in the mine, have filed their report. Regarding the question in dispute they find the law is being complied with and that the exclusive use of permisible explosives is not necessary. This report reverses the decision of the mine inspector.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

One of Fred Kelley's "Stories of Statesmen" is about the Ohio congressman who relates a most remarkable case of resourcefulness and initiative that occurred in his district.

"Some years ago," says the congressman, "a printer down in my district was promised the job of preparing some school board ballots. The work would give him a profit of about $50 and he needed the money; he had it all spent even before the time came to print the ballot. Then the board of elections sent him word that they wouldn't need the ballots, as there was no contest for school board.

"'You'd give me the job if you gave it to anybody, wouldn't you?' asked the printer.

"'Oh certainly,' they told him. So the printer got out a petition and ran for school board, thus making a contest, and they gave him the job of printing the ballots after all. As soon as they were printed and his bill O. K'd he withdrew his candidacy."

Senator James A. Reed of Missouri, who used to live in Iowa, was asked why he came to leave his native state and move into Missouri.

"Oh," he said, "I got sick and tired of living in a State where voting the straight Democratic ticket made just as much impression as throwing a bucket of ashes into the Dismal Swamp."

INDIGESTION OVERCOME

Overcome by Simple Remedy.

Hurried and careless habits of eating, irregular meals and foods that do not harmonize, tend to weaken the digestive organs and result in different forms of stomach trouble.

If you are one of the unfortunates who have drifted into this condition, eat simple foods only, slowly, regularly and take Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron tonic.

Mrs. H. J. Smith, Thomasville, Ga., says: "I suffered from a stomach trouble was tired, worn out and nervous. A friend advised me to take Vinol. My stomach trouble soon disappeared and now I eat heartily and have a perfect digestion and I wish every tired, weak woman could have Vinol, for I never spent any money in my life that did me so much good."

The recovery of Mrs. Smith was due to the combined action of the medicinal elements of the cod's livers—aided by the blood making and strength creating properties of tonic iron, which are contained in Vinol. We will return the purchase money every time Vinol fails to benefit. Piper Bros., Druggists, Charleroi, Pa.

"MARSE HENRY" AND ROYALTY

Watterson's Intimacy With Louis Napoleon Serves to Recall a Twain Incident.

It is related when Mark Twain was presented to the Prince of Wales he was most graciously received by Albert Edward, who took the great humorist aside and held an animated conversation with him, and upon parting observed: "I am glad to have met you again, Mr. Clemens."

Mark, surprised and somewhat abashed, said: "Again, your royal highness?" And with a twinkle in his eye, the prince replied: "Why, don't you remember when you were on top of an omnibus going down and I was leading a procession coming up the Strand?" referring to a forgotten joke in "Innocents Abroad."

I enjoyed that kind of intimacy with Louis Napoleon. In 1865 my breakfast room and his breakfast room were vis-a-vis; his, in the Palace of Tuileries, mine in a cheap restaurant just opposite in the Rue de Rivoli.

I cannot say that further familiar acquaintance was established, or that I was ever invited to share his cup; but the lady who was keeping company with me then—she is still around, be sure, and still imaginative, bless her dear old bones!—could, she declared, distinctly see the dishes come on and off the imperial table, and once she thought she saw him pick his imperial teeth, and again she got a glimpse of the empress—who is now under the very roof of this hotel—which she makes her home whenever she revisits Paris.

I wonder if, looking across into the gardens of the Tuileries over the way, she thinks regretfully of the past.—Henry Watterson's Letter to the Louisville Courier-Journal.

Senator Was Wondering Just How He Would Employ the Remnant of His Salary Left.

Senator John K. Shields of Tennessee is a homelover and likes his own fireside better than the gilded glories of a gaudy hostelry. On his big plantation out in his state he has a large, colonial mansion surrounded by several hundred acres of fine land on which he pastures cattle, ponies and goats.

But when he came to the capital and sought to get a house suitable for his lares and penates, he found it a difficult task. An energetic real estate agent motored him and his wife from one house to another, each time the price rising skyward for the rent. Now, the senator receives $7,000 a year, and if he pays out much for rent he will have to be pretty economical in his food and clothing.

So he and Mrs. Shields tramped over houses of all kinds for days. At last the agent got them cornered in a lovely mansion big enough to house a regiment and ornate enough to suit the Shah of Persia. He took them over it from top to bottom and at last stood up before them in the handsome library.

"What is the rent?" asked the senator, who was mightily pleased with the place.

"Very reasonable," replied the agent. "Only $6,500 a year."

Senator Shields went over to a window and stood for a time in deep thought.

"Well, sir, what is it that is puzzling you?" inquired the agent.

"Nothing much," remarked Shields, "I was only thinking what I would do with the other five hundred of my salary."
